

CERTUS PEST EXPANDS LAS VEGAS AREA PRESENCE

Partnership with Evolve Pest Control Strengthens Coverage in Greater Las Vegas

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

LAS VEGAS (May 8, 2025) — CERTUS Pest (CERTUS) has acquired Evolve Pest Control (Evolve), a pest control company servicing Northwest Arizona, Southeast Nevada, and Southwest Utah. Together, the coverage area is part of the Greater Las Vegas metropolitan region. This strategic move strengthens CERTUS' robust presence in the Las Vegas area, which includes one of its established flagship brands, Las Vegas Pest Control.

“They like to say that “what happens in Vegas stays there,” but this news is too good not to share,” said David Joles, chief operating officer for CERTUS Pest. “Greater Las Vegas is one of our favorite operating areas because there is a large population of customers and pests, and those two don’t like cohabitating. Bringing Evolve Pest Control aboard ensures we continue eradicating pests in this region, which equals happy customers.”

For the foreseeable future, Evolve will continue operating under its well-known brand. Its customers will continue seeing the familiar faces they’ve come to know while immediately benefitting from gaining access to a broader range of services, such as termite control and prevention.

“Joining forces with a top-notch company like CERTUS Pest is a no-brainer for us,” said Shad Teerlink and Nephi Julien, founders of Evolve. “They have proven expertise in enhancing pest control servicing to homeowners and businesses to help protect what matters most.”
